Designation: Alto Adige DOC

Place of cultivation: Caldaro,
Pianizza di Sotto

Elevation: 390 m

Soil: Gravelly soil rich in limestone

Color & bouquet: This wine clearly displays all of the characteristics one expects of a Gewürztraminer and presents a subtle bouquet of lychee nut, rose blossoms, orange blossoms, and cumquat, extending up to noticeable hints of the aroma of this variety of grape, itself.

Flavor: This is a very aromatic wine, with a pleasantly prickly acidity. It is robust and full-bodied, with pronounced fruitiness. The wine gives subtle hints of its origin on limestone soils.

Character: This wine is quite elegant, with a complex character. On the palate, it reveals a slightly astringent note reminiscent of bitter orange. When served slightly chilled, its easy sweetness recedes into the background and its acidic qualities become more notable.

Food pairings: This wine is a superb match to piquant dishes. It is also a very suitable accompaniment to moderately pungent cheeses.
